Red Strike in Italy Breaking Up; New Disorders Reported

Togliatti Battles Against Pseudonia; Palestine Fighting Dwindles

(By The Associated Press)
The Communist general strike in Italy broke up today against the rock-like stand of the De Gasperi government. New disorders erupted in Bologna, Milan and Palermo, however, in the aftermath of the shooting of Palmiro Togliatti, darling of Moscow and leading Italian Red.

Fist fighting disrupted the Chamber of Deputies where the Communists were trying to unseat Premier Alcide De Gasperi, who announced he would use force to break the "insurrection." Togliatti developed pseudonia from his three wounds.

Orders End to Fighting
The United Nations, in its strongest decision yet, ordered the Jews and Arabs to stop the war in Palestine. Diplomatic and economic sanctions and the use of armed force may be invoked if the order is disregarded. The Jews were expected to comply but not the Arabs. Britain voted with France and the United States for the order.

Fighting in Palestine dwindled. The Jews bombed Cairo twice. An Israeli command statement said the second raid, in which seven tons of bombs reportedly were dropped, caused heavy damage. Egypt struck back at Tel Aviv and Israeli planes bombed Haifa.

Angry crowds of Egyptians staged an anti-Jewish demonstration in Cairo protesting the first air attack.

Red Blockade "Brutal"
The U. S. dispatched more Superfortresses to England for a "short" training visit there. The Russians notified the U. S. and Britain her fighter planes would train in the 20-mile wide corridors to the land blockade city. The western planes flew on.

The American military government called the Russian action a "brutal starvation blockade" in a broadcast telling Berliners they have the right to demand a lifting of the squeeze.

Opinion among some western allied authorities in Berlin and Germany was that military action or retaliation only could smash the blockade. The Soviet Union was represented in Berlin as having

Freak Derailment Stops Rail Traffic on Oregon Branch

(Telegraph Special Service)
Oregon, July 16—Traffic on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad branch line running from here to Mt. Morris was tied up by derailment of an eight-car freight train three miles west of here yesterday afternoon in a freak accident.

The locomotive jumped the rails at 4:20 p. m. when the engine's wheels struck a small pile of dirt on the track at a country crossing, and settled at a 45 degree angle against a bank, along the track.

None of the four-man train crew was injured. Two light wreckers were dispatched to the scene today to put the engine back on the rails and repair 15 yards of damaged track, but officials of the road said they anticipated some difficulty in getting the engine, a large one, righted with the light wrecker. They explained heavy wreckers could not be used on the light track.

The freight runs each afternoon from Oregon to Mt. Morris and back, carrying freight and mail, connecting with the CB&Q's main line in Oregon.

The gravel and dirt was left on the track crossing by a road grader which had passed the crossing during work on a road a short time before the accident.

The train crew included Henry Frunt, engineer; Millard Wilson, fireman; Virgil Butcher, brakeman; and James Keteven, conductor, all of Oregon.

Three cars of mail and express, a car of freight and four empty cars made up the train.

Glass Plant Workers To Hold Union Election

Pittsburgh, July 16—(AP)—Employees of 60 glass plants in eight states will vote July 20-22 on whether they wish to be represented in collective bargaining by the AFL-American Flint Glass Workers Union of America.

The National Labor Relations Board said about 23,000 workers will be eligible to cast ballots. The plants are in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New York, New Jersey, and California.

All the companies are members of the National Association of Manufacturers of Pressed and Blown Glassware.

Kelly, Conkey Pick on Dem National Committee

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—Former Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and Mrs. Elizabeth Conkey, also of Chicago, were appointed yesterday as the Illinois representatives on the Democratic national committee.

Membership of the committee which will form the party's policies was announced shortly before adjournment of the national convention.

Paralyzed Veteran Is Shot After Fight With Another So Afflicted

Memphis, Tenn., July 16—(AP)—A paraplegic veteran was reported in fair condition today after a shooting that climaxed a fist fight from wheel chairs at Kennedy Veterans hospital.

The wounded man, Richard Hicks, 31, of Canolou, Mo., was shot through the left thigh by a similarly paralyzed patient, said Dr. Clyde Brock, hospital manager. Brock identified Hicks' assailant as Wallace Rice, 28, of Amarillo, Texas. He said Rice held a small .25 caliber automatic against Hicks' head, but the safety catch was on and the gun wouldn't fire.

GOP Sharpens Its Knives for Political Crops in Congress

Congressmen May Open Some Investigations During Session

BULLETIN
Washington, July 16—(AP)—Senator Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said today he will seek to have congress quit as soon as it convenes July 26 in response to a call from President Truman.

Johnston is a leader of the southern Democrats' rebellion against Truman's civil rights program. He has been outspoken in his opposition to anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-segregation and similar laws.

Republicans whetted their legislative knives today to chop down any political crops which may sprout from President Truman's "Turnip Day" recall of the 80th Congress.

Vigorously they assailed Mr. Truman's summons to return July 26 as "cheap politics" but they also dropped broad hints that if there is any vote harvest to be gathered in the special session it will not be a one-party reaping.

One member of the House Republican steering committee, who refused to allow use of his name, suggested that GOP lawmakers may open some investigations of the Democratic administration.

Just what might be investigated he did not say. But he told reporters one or two good investigations could provide a lot of campaign ammunition for the Republican party.

Lists Nine Problems

Mr. Truman issued his summons yesterday for the return of what he has called the "worst Congress" in history. Acting just 12 hours after winning the Democratic nomination in a north-south

Power Demands on Utilities System Are Near Capacity

I. N. U. and Associates Making Every Effort To Meet Emergency

On several occasions recently, the power demands on the system of the Illinois Northern Utilities company and associated utilities serving 600 northern Illinois cities and towns have approximately equaled the system's available capacity.

The resulting lack of reserve capacity has caused the system to undertake a survey among 7,000 larger industrial and commercial customers to ascertain their minimum power requirements in the event of temporary electricity shortages.

The shortage in reserve capacity, which is common to most large industrial areas of the country, results from circumstances beyond the control of the company. These include a continuing rise in electricity use, the inability to add sufficient new generating capacity due to war restrictions and post-war limitations, and the withdrawal of apparatus from service for necessary overhauling.

Demand on the system has increased 77,000 kilowatts, or 45 per cent, since 1940, while additions to generating capacity have been limited to slightly over 420,000 kw—all that could be added during the war and immediate postwar period.

$400,000,000 Program
The system now has under construction or on order 357,000 kw of new generating capacity and another 100,000 kw planned, but it will take from nine months to three and one-half years to complete the various installations involved in the $400,000,000 expansion program.

Military Tributes to Pershing Start in Capitol Sunday

Washington, July 16—(AP)—A vast military funeral procession is planned for General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

Tentative plans call for an escort of thousands of infantry and armored cavalry troops, Navy Bluejackets, Marines and Air Force personnel. In addition, there is to be a farewell salute by Air Force planes over the grave of the 57-year-old war hero, who died early yesterday at Walter Reed hospital after 10 years of steadily failing health.

President Truman and the full cabinet are expected to attend the graveside ceremonies on Monday in Arlington National cemetery. With them will be the generals and admirals who compose the nation's military high command.

Included among the crack Army troops from Washington and posts in this area will be the ceremonial unit from nearby Fort Myer, Va., and 250 men from the 2d Mechanized Cavalry at Fort Meade, Md.

Bugler Is Alerted

At Fort Worth, Tex., the commander of Carswell Air Force base alerted a Negro staff sergeant of whom Pershing once said: "I want no one but Charley Wycoff to sound taps for me."

Pershing chose his own burial plot in Arlington, in an area where men who served with him in France are interred. The grave site is on a slope below the tomb of the unknown Soldier, who died in action during World War I while under the general's command.

By order of Truman, "as a mark of respect to General Pershing's memory," flags will fly at half-mast at all public buildings, forts, military posts, naval stations and aboard United States Navy ships until after the funeral.

The almost unprecedented military tribute—possibly the greatest since burial of the Unknown Soldier—will start Sunday morning.

Army troops will escort the general's body from Walter Reed hospital, in northwest Washington, to the Capitol. Until Monday morning he will lie in state in the high vaulted rotunda of the grey old building, resting on a historic catafalque which previously had borne the remains of Abraham Lincoln and the Unknown Soldier.

Staley, Decaturite, Heads Norway Marshall Group

Washington, July 16—(AP)—The Marshall plan mission to Norway will be headed by A. E. Staley Jr., Decatur, Ill., manufacturer, Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul F. Hoffman announced today.

Staley was deputy chief of the War Production Board's food branch during the war. He is a member of the business advisory council of the Commerce department and has been on the grain advisory committee of the Agriculture department.

The 45 year old executive has been president of the Staley company at Decatur for 16 years. The firm is engaged in corn refining and soy processing.

He also is a director of the Washaw Railway company and the Safe Deposit and Trust company of Baltimore, his native city. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

Draft Eligibles Can Volunteer Wednesday

Washington, July 16—(AP)—Eighteen-year-olds who want to avoid being drafted next year can start volunteering in the armed forces next Wednesday, July 21.

The date was set yesterday by Secretary of Defense Forrestal.

Under the draft law, all young men 18 through 25 must register, but none can be drafted until reaching the age of 19.

However, 15-year-olds become draft-subject on their 19th birthday unless they're already in service for a special one-year hitch, followed by a longer period in the reserves.

The new law limits the annual total of these enlistments to: Army 110,000, Navy 36,000, including 6,000 Marines; Air Force 15,000. For the first four weeks after July 21, the army will accept 10,000 men; Navy-Marines 3,000; Air Force 1,300.

Warren Keeps Quiet on Special Session

Sacramento, Calif., July 16—(AP)—President Truman's call for a special session of congress "is a matter between him and the congress," says Gov. Earl Warren, Republican vice presidential nominee.

Warren told reporters yesterday the special session would not change Republican plans to start campaigning early in September. He has discussed plans by telephone with Governor Thomas Dewey of New York, the GOP standard bearer.

U. N. in Strongest Stand; Orders War Ended in Palestine

U. S., Britain, France in Agreement on Stiff Peace Order

Lake Success, July 16 (AP)—The security council last night ordered the war in Palestine stopped. It was the strongest decision in United Nations history.

The 11-nation council gave the Jews and Arabs three days to cease firing and committed itself to back up the decision with force. The delegates also ordered an unconditional cease-fire in Jerusalem, effective by tonight. The Holy City is to be demilitarized.

The final vote came on an American resolution after three days of debate. The ballot was 7 to 1 with only Syria in opposition. Russia, the Soviet Ukraine and Argentina abstained. The seven affirmative voters, just enough to approve the plan, included United States, Britain and France.

British Explain Stand

It marked a British break with the Arab world but during the closing hours of debate Sir Alexander Cadogan sought to soften the blow by explaining carefully that his government was not endorsing any suggestion that the Arabs are the aggressors. Rather, he said, Britain insists that a truce go on to enable Count Folke Bernadotte to continue Arab-Jewish negotiations.

Israel is expected to comply with the order. Arab delegates have told the council they could see no chance of the Arab countries accepting.

Under the council order failure of either side to comply within three days automatically "demonstrates" a breach of world peace. The council then is committed to immediately consider invoking its most potent weapons under the U. N. charter—diplomatic sanctions, economic sanctions and international land, sea and air forces.

May Invite Russians

Copies of the order immediately went on to Israel and the seven Arab nations under Bernadotte's signature. The Swedish count booked air passage for his Middle East headquarters on Rhodes for tomorrow. Meanwhile, he tackled the job of rounding up a corps of military observers to control the armistice, which is to continue until a peaceful settlement of the Palestine problem is reached.

A U. N. spokesman said Bernadotte had "initially" contacted the American, French and Belgian governments about supplying observers and equipment such as planes and ships. The spokesman emphasized the word "initially." There was speculation that the U. N. mediator might invite Russia to send men too.

The council action posed many

Report Confession in St. Louis Case

St. Louis, July 16—(AP)—Police said today that Will Tillet, 44-year-old feeble-minded Negro, has admitted orally the rape and slaying last May 4 of Elaine Tomlin, four-year old Negro girl.

District Police Capt. Herman Siebels said Tillet re-enacted the crime yesterday and told authorities that after raping the girl in a shed near her home, he held his hands over her mouth and throat until she appeared to be dead.

Her body, "squeezed into a dog house," was found the next day. A Negro man had entered her home after giving her five-year-old brother money to buy three ice cream cones.

Siebels said an examination at a hospital showed Tillet had the mentality of a five-year-old child. The Negro was booked suspected of homicide.

Four of Crew of Flaming Bomber Escape in Crash; Nine Men Dead

Salina, Kan., July 15 (AP)—A short circuit in its electrical system was blamed today for the flaming crash of a B-29 in which nine crew members were killed and another injured critically.

Col. Leslie G. Mulzer, commander of the 201st very heavy bombardment squad at Smoky Hill Army air base, said an electrical fire broke out in the rear section of the Superfort as it was making its final run to land at the base late yesterday.

The giant Superfort was returning to the air base with 14 other B-29s, following a simulated attack on Omaha, St. Louis and the two Kansas Cities.

Three crew members escaped with minor injuries by parachuting when the plane was less than 1,200 feet from the earth.

Col. Mulzer explained that all crew members on B-29s carry parachutes but because of the low altitude of the bomber when the

Congress to Run Into Swarms of Capitol Tourists

Washington, July 16 (AP)—President Truman is calling congress back into session right in the middle of the biggest tourist rush in the capitol's history.

Returning lawmakers are going to bump into swarms of summer visitors. They are trudging through the halls of the Capitol at the rate of about 2,000 a day.

Harry C. Nash has guided tourists about the Capitol for 34 years—at 25 cents a head but he has never seen anything like it before.

"Last year was good, but this year is better," he said, "they wander in from all parts of the world. Some of them don't even know what building they are in, but they want to take a look around."

It seems everyone who hasn't had a look at the nation's capitol is heading this way this summer. And they find the two-bit tour of the capitol one of the few real bargains left for tourists.

What do they like best?

They enjoy most the story which guides tell on sly old John Quincy Adams and his secret "listening post."

While he was a representative, the story goes, Adams had an uncanny knowledge of the opposition's whispered plots across the room. No one knew how he did it and he kept the secret until his death.

Then his diary revealed the mystery: Adams' chair in the House chamber sat on a spot which caught a clear echo of a whisper many yards away. It was a trick of sound bouncing from the domed ceiling to the spot where Adams sat.

The spot is marked by a little star set in the floor. Guides tell tourists the story and while they huddle about the star, the guides go to another spot in the chamber. The guides' whispers are clearly heard at the spot where Adams sat.

Also, Nash said, everyone wants to see "where the laws are made." Whether congress is in session or not, droves of people file into the galleries to sit and look down on the seats where the lawmakers shape the nation's destiny.

The 25 cent bargain tour will be even better when the special session convenes.

Penicillin Cure Is Not Certain for Syphilis

Washington, July 16—(AP)—Thousands of veterans who took the army's penicillin cure for syphilis may still have the disease without knowing it, the Veterans Administration said today.

The agency urged veterans to check periodically with their private physician or local health department. The VA said in a news release.

"Contrary to the popular belief that penicillin is a cure-all for venereal disease, between 20 and 30 per cent of the cases treated with the drug are reported to be 'failures.'"

Medical authorities estimate the number of U. S. servicemen treated for venereal disease during the war at 300,000.

"Foodless" Girl Fraud; Caught in Pantry Raid

Nanking, July 16—(AP)—Yang Mei, 20, who swore she hadn't eaten for nine years, was exposed today by the official central news agency as a midnight pantry raider.

The agency said nurses, feigning sleep at the Chungking hospital where the girl has been under observation for weeks, caught her slipping into the pantry to feast.

She had insisted she lost all appetite for food nine years ago after an illness.

Authorities were not sure whether she would be punished for her fraud.

B-29 Fleet Flies to England Today

Washington, July 16—(AP)—The air force announced today that 60 B-29s are enroute to England for a "short" training visit there.

The big bombers, comprising two groups, will make the trip over two routes, one by way of Labrador and the other via Bermuda.

In England, USAF officials said, the American formations will be guests of the Royal Air Force, using three RAF bases while there.

While there was no announcement from the air force, it was considered probable that some of the B-29s will make training flights out of England to United States bases in Germany.

The Superfortresses are crossing the Atlantic in the wake of the American cargo plane fleet recently sent into Germany to fly food into Soviet-blockaded Berlin.

The training trip greatly augments U. S. air strength in Europe at a time when Russia is threatening to slam shut the air corridors into the beleaguered German capital.

Douglas C-54 planes will transport maintenance personnel and supplies for the B-29s. Each Superfortress carries both regular and spare crews. Altogether, about 1,500 personnel will be involved in the training operation.

Col. Stanley Wray of Muncie, Ind., will be local commander of the two groups while they are in Europe.

Angry Southern Democrats Meet in Birmingham Tomorrow

Birmingham, Ala., July 16—(AP)—Angry southern Democrats went ahead today with plans to put up their own ticket in the November elections. But one of their leaders said frankly they have no chance of winning.

Others, however, were not so pessimistic. They counted on a solid southern bloc of 127 electoral votes behind a Dixie candidate for president.

A conference of "states' rights" Democrats meets here tomorrow to nominate candidates for president and vice president in opposition to the Truman-Barkley ticket.

Mississippi Gov. Fielding Wright termed the conference "the beginning of our electoral fight to save the south." Nomination of Truman and adoption

Animal Act a "Must" For Political Party, Hal Boyle Decides

Donkeys, Elephants and Elks Crowd Philly This Summer

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—Political conventions are getting more and more animal.

Lee County Legion Will Seek Fund to Secure Audiometer

T. R. Mason, commander of the Lee County Council, American Legion, announced today that the council is again sponsoring the annual subscription sales campaign throughout Lee county, running through the next six weeks.

Funds from this year's campaign will be used for the purchase of a portable audiometer, which will be placed with the county nurse, Mason said. This will be in addition to the council's usual service work.

Through similar campaigns in the past the council has purchased and placed at Lee county residents' disposal several pieces of hospital and emergency equipment.

With the portable audiometer, it is planned to test the hearing capacity of each school child in the county at least once during each school year for possible correction or clinical reference.

Cautions Citizens

Mason cautioned Lee county residents not to confuse the campaign with any unsponsored campaigns or drives by supposed veterans, which often cause residents financial loss.

Representatives in this drive he said will be registered at the sheriff's office carry a letter of identification and will not solicit or accept donations.

He said this method of sponsorship was adopted by the Legion as an annual affair giving Lee county residents safe and ethical work.

Hardly! But some day they may be!

Yes—some day these same young lovers may seal their vows with a ring and a kiss, and come happily down the aisle to begin their life together.

When that day comes, their happiness is going to depend in large measure on the influences which have molded their character during youth.

The strongest character-building influences in the life of a child are the teachings of his Church and the example of his parents. When these harmonize they provide a constant guiding force, turning the child's interests to the most important values in life.

Your youngster deserves the moral and spiritual training the Church offers. And the influence of the Church will be many times more effective if you, too, worship every Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Gems of Thought
BEAUTY

The most natural beauty in the world is honesty and moral truth. For beauty is truth.

Who walks with Beauty has no need of fear. The sun and moon and stars keep pace with him. Invisible hands restore the ruined year. And time, itself, grows beautifully dim.

Every trait of beauty may be referred to some virtue, as to innocence, candor, generosity, modesty or heroism.

Goodness is a special kind of truth and beauty. It is truth and beauty in human behavior.

To cultivate the sense of the beautiful, use the most effective ways of cultivating an appreciation of the goodness.

The recipe for beauty is to have less illusion and more soul, to retreat from the belief of man on pleasure in the body into the unchanging calm and glorious freedom of spiritual harmony.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT
All Types of Women Found in Bible

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
The 20th century, in spite of the two world wars has seen much advancement in what we commonly call "the emancipation of women." Not only in the most progressive democracies, but even in backward countries, women have become voters and have now an active part in almost every phase of public life.

But when one looks over the vast field of history an amazing thing is the discovery of the way in which, even in times and places in which the position of women was inferior to that of men, women have occupied positions of great power and dominance. Sometimes good, sometimes bad, sometimes in characters and actions strongly blended of both good and evil. Women have been powerful as queens and warriors, as sirens luring men to destruction, and as ambitious wives and mothers.

One thinks of queens, like Cleopatra, Catherine of Russia, and Elizabeth of England; of warriors like Boudicca and Joan of Arc; of ambitious women, like the mother of George III, whose domination to her son "George, the king," had something to do with the revolt of the American colonies.

Now, in the Bible, all these phases of women, outstanding character and action are fully represented. There is the great judge-warrior, Deborah (Judges 5), the good and pure Hannah mother of Samuel (Samuel I); the beautiful Bathsheba, mother of Solomon, but lured and luring in the adulterous commerce with David (II Samuel 11); and there is the vicious Jezebel (I Kings 18-21), whose name has become a byword for villainousness and evil. All these, and many more, are there in the pages of the Old Testament.

But the whole book of the Old Testament, the Book of Ruth, is devoted to the story of two women, one an Israelite, the other a Moabitess. Their character shines with undiminished beauty, as types of noble womanhood, as true for our time as for that ancient day in which they lived, suffered and triumphed.

That story is commonly emphasized as an example of friendship and womanly devotion. It is all the more remarkable because it relates to daughter-in-law and mother-in-law, who don't always get on harmoniously. But the story is a great deal more than that. If Ruth is a type of the loyal, devoted woman, Naomi, the mother-in-law, is a type of womanly courage in adversity—the type so common in the pioneer history of our country.

Exiled from her homeland by famine bereaved of husband and sons, Naomi's courage and her love of her religion and her homeland never failed. And her persistent courage had its reward, for the ancestry of Jesus goes back to Ruth.

Visit Chicago and the CHICAGO RAILROAD FAIR July 20 through Labor Day

CHIEF ATTRACTION for visitors to Chicago this summer is the spectacular Chicago Railroad Fair, commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the opening of the West by rail transportation. Sponsored by America's leading railroads, it opens July 20 and continues through Labor Day.

Only one hundred years ago, a 10-ton, wood burning engine, bought third-hand from eastern railroads, chugged out of the young city of Chicago, pulling a flaccid loaded with local dignitaries of the day.

This historic 5-mile trip of the "PIONEER" marked the beginning of Chicago's growth to leadership as a center of rail transportation. The Chicago Railroad Fair is a celebration of that growth. Rich with educational exhibits, it cativates the contributions made by the railroads in the settlement of the country, the development of its economy and the winning of its wars. It pays tribute to Chicago's position as transportation center of the world and accords recognition to its eminence in cultural, educational and industrial achievements. The foremost railroads of the country have prepared fascinating exhibits, including trains from every period of railroad progress, from the old "PIONEER" to the very newest streamliners, including the famous "TRAIN OF TOMORROW". Visitors to the Fair, conveniently located on the Lake Michigan shore, will sample the travel attractions of every part of the country. A mile-long narrow-gauge railroad transports them to a typical southwest Indian village, past a replica of Old Faithful Geyser in Yellowstone National Park, to beach and Everglades scenes from Florida and through a western dude ranch. Highlight of the Chicago Railroad Fair is a colorfully staged pageant depicting the development of transportation from the birch bark canoes of the Indians to the de luxe trains of the future. More than 200 actors will present this dramatic pageant several times daily on an outdoor stage. Many railroads are planning special economical excursions to Chicago and in Railroad Fair.

Property Taxes Up 12 Per Cent Over State

Springfield, Ill., July 16—A survey of 50 counties showed that property taxes payable this year averaged 12.6 per cent higher than a year ago, the state revenue department said today.

Taxes in these counties totaled $33,811,965, an increase of $6,020,293.

Schools took nearly 82 per cent of the increase, and in most cases it was with voters approval in referendums.

Of the $6,020,293 boost, schools got $4,925,660, miscellaneous districts $537,059, townships or road districts $362,410, counties $233,579 and cities $51,495.

Only four of the 50 counties studied to date reported lower tax bills. They were Alexander, Greene, Edwards and Massac.

Franklin's net increase of 28 per cent was the highest, followed by Warren with 25 per cent, Knox 22.6 per cent and Hancock 22.6 per cent.

A Thought for Today

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth—
Genesis 1:1.

All are but parts of one stupendous whole.
Whose body Nature is, and God
the Soul.—Pope.

What Competition Does

One of the standard left-wing criticisms of the capitalist system is that it promotes monopoly, and permits the small operator to be ruthlessly squeezed out by the big.

The only way that can gain credence is on Hitler's theory that a lie, often enough repeated, will seem to be the truth. For the whole tendency of American capitalism has been away from monopoly, toward more intense competition—and toward giving the small, ably managed enterprise a better chance to grow and prosper.

An interesting example of that which is close to all consumers is the retail store. The nearest thing we had to a retail monopoly was the old-time country general store. Whether it was good, bad or indifferent, the customers could take it or lump it—competition was frequently non-existent.

Then the automobile made it possible for people to go considerable distances to do their shopping, and a change set in. Storekeepers had to meet both price and service competition if they were to keep their trade. Chain systems were started. Independent stores picked up the good points of chain operation and added innovations of their own. Specialty shops came along. The result was a constantly better deal for consumers—and good times for any kind of store which was on its toes. Every store had a competitor down the block or in the next town.

Now the consumer is offered an amazing choice when he shops—and the retailers' margins of profit on each transaction are at an extreme low. That is what competition does—and it is the underlying principle of the capitalist economic system.

Your Railroads

Services which vitally affect our well-being often go unrecognized—simply because we don't patronize them directly, and accept them without thinking.

For millions of people, railroad freight service falls into that category. Last year, for instance, you may not have shipped or received a single package which moved by rail. Yet the American railroads hauled for you—and for every other American—an average of over 10 tons of freight for an average distance of more than 450 miles.

That total was made up of your food, your clothing, your fuel—the thousand and one things you used during 1947. It was almost half again as great as the heaviest volume handled in any previous year. And the railroads hauled

New York—During the war, the "membership" of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers union rose to more than 300,000. There were seasonal fluctuations. In winter, when government construction was curtailed, the rolls would shrink by more than 100,000 head from the fair weather maximum. The standard initiation fee was $50. The local unions kept $45. The other went to the international headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Actually "membership" was a poetic term. When a contractor set up his shanties to start making a road or ditching for the Big Inch, the bosses of the regional local set up shop, too. They demanded an "initiation" fee of $50 from each farmer, miner or other applicant for pick-and-shovel work. The custom was to permit the starts to pay this at the rate of $5 or $10 a week. Then they were "initiated." They might be canned so that new suckers could be taken on and "initiated." The contractors in these lines are no better than the union mob. By collusion, they add to their bids the cost of the union shakedown. The ultimate consumer, usually the taxpayer in the last 15 years, pays the cost.

On the war "projects" the working citizen had no chance. The employer often was a thief, adding the union graft to the cost of his "project" and thus fattening his own income. If he wasn't crooked he had to submit anyway. The union was historically and currently verminous with underworld rodents. And the government pugnaciously protected this racket as a "gain" for "labor."

On some big jobs, the price of a permit or "initiation" fee to an ostensibly free American citizen was as high as $300 in certain crafts. Eleanor Roosevelt testified that she thought this must be exceptional. It never was possible to know whether she was being naive or being silly.

The government granted the unions the closed shop or permitted the contractors to make closed that freight for an average rate of just over a penny per ton-mile.

There has been a good deal of criticism of the railroads, some of it obviously put out to serve special interests with an axe to grind. It has been said, for instance, that the lines have been too slow in ordering new equipment. The truth is that they have enormous amounts of equipment on order and it is going into service as fast as manufacturers can deliver it. Like all other business, the railroads have been vexed with shortages. But, as they steadily improve their facilities, they are making every piece of equipment do full duty, which is why they are handling a record nea-time volume of business with an amazingly small number of delays and dislocations.

We will have better railroads—indeed, they are getting better all most daily. And that is happening because free enterprise in a competitive system can never stand still. It must always go ahead.

shop agreements. The United States Employment Service published ads at public expense beseeching citizens to leave their homes and take urgent war jobs far away. They usually contained this proviso: "Must be union member or willing to join."

Even when the government published really hysterical appeals for electromechanics to go to Knoxville and immerse themselves in the atomic bomb job at Oak Ridge, the union's rake-off was the first consideration. They had to be members or willing to join.

Few citizens understood then or know now that the money was the private income of small local unions, except the minor share which they had to forward to their parent or international unions. It belonged to the small resident membership, dominated by a few union bosses. At a glimpse, the union was an extortion from the people was the greatest racket in the history of the institution of graft and most of it was legally taken. Edward McGarry, an old pressman who retains his card although he has been a laborer for the government and for private industry for many years, remarked to me one day at the height of this carnival: "You estimate the union rake off at one thousand million dollars a year. Some of the union experts think it is twice that."

The debt of these unions to Roosevelt's party is plainly seen in the following figures, taken from the sketchy records of the Hod Carriers. In 1933, the average "membership" for the year was 26,481. In 1939, the last pre-war year, the average was 157,513. By 1944, when the great war shake-down was really going, the average was 239,589. Each new sucker paid $50 and, of course, there was no limit on the dues except that they must be "adequate."

The emotions of a gorilla of the type of Jim Bove, one of the few thieves among many who finally went to prison, may be imagined as the war program swelled. War means that the Treasury was willing to pay inflationary wages so that hundreds of thousands of pick-and-shovel hands could patiently pay that "initiation." Certainly not fewer than a million "initiations" were paid to this union alone. It would be childish to place any confidence in the "accounts" rendered to the parent union by the locals, considering the character of many of the local officers. The parent union, in Washington, got 35 cents a month per head in addition to its $5 out of each initiation fee—all this to pay for keeping a few ledgers and some files.

In the recent trial in Washington of the few remaining defendants in a prosecution that started loud and fizzled suspiciously, Leo Rover, the special prosecutor called in to dispose of the rotten mess, informed the court he had been unable to account for about $19,000 of the revenue of local 74. Mr. Rover appears to have done good work under circumstances that indict the Department of Justice. Here was a local right under the eyes of the Department of Justice and of the parent union, too. The government indicted old Joe Moreschi, the international president, as well as his son, Faust. But the old man's indictment was dismissed after five years and the kid got four months and a suspended sentence at that.

Old Joe has been president since

1926, but he was "elected" in that year by a gang of parasites constituting the executive board, every one of whom, with one exception, had been elected by a succession of similar parasites. In a period of 20 years the union did not once hold a convention or an election by ballot of the members. The secretary-treasurer, Achilles Persson, may or may not have been elected. The fog of antiquity blurs him. He was secretary-treasurer in 1911 when the 30-year hiatus started. He is still there today.

Meanwhile, every now and again, the boys have put their heads together and unanimously voted to raise their own pay. In 1931, they voted $10,000 to send Joe Moreschi to England as "fraternal delegate" of the American Federation of Labor to the British Trade Union congress. Even granting that the mission was legitimate, the reasonable cost could have been covered lavishly with $1,500.

Meanwhile, however, they tenaciously refused on technical dodges to pay paltry burial benefits to the poor widows of departed brothers, and upheld fines against ignorant laborers for speaking out of turn to grafting padrones.

ROBERT W. STERLING
The funeral of Robert W. Sterling, pharmacist and civic leader, whose death at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital Thursday noon was announced in last evening's Telegraph, will be the occasion for introducing a new idea in memorials in Dixon—an opportunity for friends of the deceased to share in the establishment of such.

This practice of permitting co-operation in memorials instead of paying respect with floral offerings has been in vogue in the Chicago metropolitan area for some time and has been welcomed by mourners who have found solace in the share friends of loved ones have had in proving living remembrances.

Participation by Mr. Sterling's friends will be made possible by

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owns Harry Bindle a gambling debt of $10,000 he can't pay. His wealthy wife, William, has refused him the money. He comes home late after dodging Bindle all day. William is out. Bindle phones that he will be over at 11. Marcus comes to work. Marcus gives her a good drink. William, however, takes her drink to her room. At 11 on the dot, Bindle shows up. He demands the money under threat. Marcus, cornered, gets an idea. William is asleep. Marcus takes her diamond necklace from a wall safe. To make it appear a burglary, he also takes a wallet pocket, then matters things about.

was getting restless. He frowned at the whisky bottle, stubbed out his half-smoked cigar in the ashtray. He got up. He crossed to the radio and turned a dial to shut off the orchestral jangle. He looked at his watch. It had stopped. His heady eyes swept the room. He discovered a small clock, supported by a slender white figurine, perched on a sturdy ebony table against the drapes in the alcove. He crossed to it, saw the short length of cord reaching from the base of the table to the folds of a drape. Neat, he thought. Then his eyes blinked. Twenty minutes of 12.

He strode across the room, went out into the hall, listened. He went to the front door and recovered this fat, pulsed it tightly down on his head. He buttoned his coat and his hands sank into his side pockets. He walked briskly to the stairway, looked up toward the dimly lighted landing, listened. He heard no sound.

Bindle had gone up one step when he halted. Sterling was coming slowly down the stairs. Bindle could just see beyond the bend of the stairway. Bindle time at my office, Sterling.

Sterling's nerves were wearing thin. "Okay Saturday noon."

"And a final word, Sterling. If you don't show up by Saturday noon, I'll have to use the necktie to raise cash. Understand?"

Sterling shrugged impatiently. "All right. I guess that's all."

BINDLE's hands remained buried in his pockets. His eyes wandered about the room, came to rest on the wide desk in a corner. Then he glanced anxiously at Sterling. "Maybe you would have a big envelope to put the necktie in. I ain't anxious to handle it."

Sterling stilled a protest. "Sure," he agreed, gruffly, picking up the necktie. He went to the desk, found a long white envelope, and dropped the necktie into it. Bindle had followed and stood at his shoulder.

"Now seal it," Bindle said, "and write across the flap, 'Hold for Marcus Sterling.' Make it your regular signature."

Sterling frowned, his face flushed, his patience at the breaking point. But he sat down abruptly before the desk. "All right, if that's the way it has to be."

Bindle watched while only the scratch of the pen across the back of the envelope disturbed the silence. Sterling turned to his chair and handed up the envelope. Bindle took it with his left hand and slipped it into his topcoat pocket.

Bindle then waited for Sterling to get up and lead the way from the room. He had no intention of turning his back on an adversary with whom he had driven such a hard bargain.

At the door, Sterling asked, "Won't you want a cab? I didn't hear a car when you came."

"No, you didn't hear a car. I don't mind walking the last two or three blocks. Sometimes it ain't so good, Sterling, to let a cab driver know exactly where he's taking you, or exactly where you came from."

Bindle had sidled through the door while saying that. He stood facing Sterling. "Saturday by noon," he said. He did not turn to go down from the porch until Sterling had closed the door.

If all families were as alike as two peas in a pod, they might request a standardized funeral service. But the truth is that families are not all alike. And that's why the experience of our staff in helping families in all walks of life is so important. Harold July, Jr. Takes Rockford Girl as Bride

Miss Vivian Jeanne Dewey, only daughter of Mrs. Grace Dewey of Rockford, and Harold July, Jr., elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold July of Snawa, were wed in a pretty July wedding at the Y. M. C. A. Lodge along the Rock River at Rockford at 7:00 o'clock Saturday evening, July 10, with a candlelight service. The Rev. E. C. Cleveland of the Congregational church officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Charles July, brother of the groom, sang "O Promise Me" and "Because" preceding the ceremony. He was accompanied by Mrs. Jack Horner of Rockford. Palms, ferns and lilies decorated the altar and there was a white carpet on the aisle for the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Earl Vivian of Maywood, Ill., was lovely in a white sharkskin dress fashioned with a low neckline and short sleeves, wearing long white mitts. Her fingertip veil of white net fell from a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white delphinium.

Delores Carlson, friend of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore a light blue gown and carried a bouquet of blue delphinium.

A reception was held at the Lodge for 100 guests, friends and relatives of the bride and groom. The table decorations were candleabra, decorated at base with flowers. Three of Jeanne's girl friends were in charge of the table. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with an all-white good luck piece, made of two bells, two doves and white flowers. The couple left for a 10 day honeymoon, destination unknown.

Mrs. July chose for her going-away a brown and white checked gingham dress with matching hat and white accessories. On their return, they will make their home with the groom's parents at Shaw's.

Condon Gets Green Light From A-Group

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon, once called "one of the weakest links in our atomic security" by a congressional committee, had full access today to any atomic information he wants to see.
The Atomic Energy Commission announced late yesterday, after double-checking the government scientist's loyalty with the FBI, that Condon's "continued clearance is in the best interests of the atomic energy program."
Condon, head of the government Bureau of Standards, had clamped the atomic security lid down on himself while the commission conducted its investigation. He agreed to acquire no new atomic information during that period.

Farm Wage Rates Up 11 Per Cent in Midwest

Washington, July 16 (AP)—The Agriculture department reports that farm wage rates have climbed upward another 10 per cent in the seven west north-central states during the year ended July 1.
In this group of states are the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska.
Set against the 1910-14 average, farm wage rates in these states have gone to a level more than four times as high.

The national increase in the past year was seven per cent. The east north-central area—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin—slightly outstripped the western groups with an 11 per cent boost in rates.
The department, in its monthly summary, ascribes the future rise in farm wages to:
Recovery of farm prices to their January level, continued increases in both the rural and urban cost of living, and a new round of increases in industrial wages.

HOLLYWOOD
BY BOB THOMAS
Hollywood (AP)—Burt Lancaster will go to 20th p.m. for "Down to the Sea in Ships" if he can get together with the studio on a salary.

The deal is not completed yet, because there is a difference of opinion as to how much Lancaster is worth. But, naturally, holds a higher estimate. But he likes the story and is eager to do the film, which was once planned for Tyrone Power.

Incidentally, the sea story follows the trend of several recent and future pictures—no women are featured in the cast. Are you worried, girls?
Joan Fontaine finished her last scene of "You Gotta Stay Happy" and commented to her producer, husband, "My dear, it's been a pleasure to work on your picture." His reply: "Thank you, I might be able to use you in some other picture." Joan now takes a six-month vacation for the birth of her baby. The picture's end didn't come any too soon.

Melvin Douglas gets nightly reports on the Democratic convention via phone from his wife, Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas. U-I may be the next studio to be marked for an upheaval. The studio is learning the hard way that its action melodramas are doing much better business than the prestige films aimed for Academy awards.
Alvin Ladd will help glamorize the U. S. mail service in "Postal Inspection." That nearly completes film coverage of government bureaus, with the possible exception of Labor department. Did I just give some screen writer an idea? A large spotlight fell on the "Family Honey" set a couple of feet from this reporter, splintering a flower pot to bits. Hail! They missed again.

GOP Sharpens Its

splintered convention, the president said "an extraordinary occasion requires" the special session.
He told the convention he wants Congress to act on nine major problems: inflation, housing, education, health, civil rights, minimum wage boosts, social security, public power and displaced persons.

In Missouri, the President said, July 26 is "Turnip Day"—the best day to sow seed for a good harvest. But it was clear that in calling back Republican lawmakers on that date to make good on their platform promises it was a Democratic vote harvest Mr. Truman had in mind.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was silent on the special session call. Next week the Republican stand-bearer plans to open campaign headquarters in Washington, where he can take a direct hand in guiding his party's political fortunes—on Capitol Hill, among other places.

Plan "Rump" Conclave
In Birmingham, meanwhile a group of rebel southern party members mapped plans to hamstring Mr. Truman's election chances by leaving their state electors unpledged.

Headed by the state's rights delegates from Alabama and Mississippi who walked out of the Philadelphia convention, the Birmingham group hopes to unite the 11 Dixie states in an anti-Truman bloc in the electoral college.

But Senator Russell (D-Ga.), who received 263 votes for the presidential nomination from the anti-Truman delegates at Philadelphia, said he does not consider the Birmingham meeting "the best thing for the party."

McGrath is Confident
Senator J. Howard McGrath (D-RI) meanwhile told national party leaders in Philadelphia that if they can "keep the team together" he is confident they can elect Mr. Truman and his running mate, Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky.

The special session call also got a boost from Henry A. Wallace, the third party presidential candidate. He said in a statement issued in New York:

"The new party welcomes the call for a special session of Congress. When Congress meets it will give the country a preview of what bi-partisan campaign promises mean.
"We shall see each party trying to maneuver the other so as to snare votes but at the same time passing no bills that might really aid the people."

No one was ready to predict how long the special session might last. It could go on for several months. The President said the program he wants could be put through in 15 days if the legislators co-operated.

sion program, largest in the system's history.
The survey—termed a "precautionary measure due to the tight capacity situation"—will cover all customers with 25,000 watts or more of demand served by the Illinois Northern Utilities company, Commonwealth Edison company (Chicago), Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and Western United Gas & Electric company.

The present shortage of reserve capacity is expected to continue until at least the spring of 1949 when the next big generating unit in the system's multi-million dollar expansion program is scheduled for completion.

According to the company, everything possible is being done to prevent a power emergency. However, it was pointed out that facilities which have operated almost continuously throughout the war and postwar period may break down. In this event, it might be necessary to temporarily curtail power to larger users during the peak hours in order to protect electricity supply to the general public and essential community services. Peak hours occur during varying times between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

The survey is of a preliminary and exploratory nature to ascertain what can be done with least inconvenience to larger power users in case of temporary shortages before new generating capacity is installed and in service.

Lincoln Highway pickups... Beaten competitors had nothing but praise for Jim Besenfelder, respected DeKalb golfer who edged Ken Detweiler by a single stroke to grab the individual crown.

His putting was superb and led Hank Henry of the Dixon crew to observe, "the putted like a pro." Until the last four holes it looked like an easy victory for the ex-Notre Dame Irishman. Then Detweiler came with a rush, shaving five strokes off his disadvantage. But it was Besenfelder's opening day 69 that stood up in the final analysis.

Jim Lamb of Oregon staged a nifty comeback to finish with 216 after a second round 77. Henry and Francis Brown, Morrison, were consistent throughout and never far off the pace.

But Pollini, coach of the Mt. Morris Kabie Kolls basketball team played as a member of the Sunset delegation. And, oddly enough, the field included Parr, Hook and Bull, somewhat of a play on names. Harold Parr of Princeton missed par by 33 strokes by carrying 213. Harold Hook of Morrison hooked himself for a 231 while Bill Bull, also of Morrison, had 256.

The efforts of Scorekeepers E. G. Hubert and Larry Poole, Starter PeeWee Myers, and Ralph Stonehouse were appreciated by the throng.

STEERS SHY OF MANPOWER—The Barrick Steers will present a somewhat tattered lineup tonight against Fazzis in the second game of an airport softball twin-bill. Catcher "Nig" Knigge and outfielder Rho Kiopelle are on the injured list. Knigge with torn leg ligaments and Kiopelle with a lacerated thumb, and First Sacker Gene Krahnenbuhl has dropped off the team.

Hank Henry is slated to replace Krahnenbuhl at first but Kernan is uncertain about his catching.

NOMINATES DEMICHELE—Frank Metzinger, LaSalle News-Tribune sports ed, nominates Anton Demichels as a fitting successor to Rudy Novak, Hall Township varsity basketball coach who recently shifted to DeKalb. Demichels, ex-Cherry mentor, coached the Red Devil frosh-soph team last season.

REPEATS SCHEDULED—John Lange, United Cigar All Stars booking manager, is arranging repeat airport performances for two of the season's top crowd-pleasing teams, Rockford Bennett Motors and Beloit Freeman's Shoes.

The Stars beat Bennett Motors, 2-0, on Charley Van Drew's one-hitter Sunday night. Van Drew also hurled a shutout against Beloit, winning 2-0.

36-HOLES PLANNED

District Golf Meet

Slated for July 28-29

The second annual Dixon District Golf association tournament will be held July 28-29 with 12 cities participating. Secretary Frank Duschbach, Jr., disclosed today.

A 36-hole medal play event (18 holes each day), the meet will be contested at Plum Hollow and the Country club. Players will fire 18 holes at each course.

Expected to enter golfers are Dixon Country club, Plum Hollow, Oregon Country club, Edgewood Country club (Polo), Prairie View Country club (Sterling), Rock River Country club (Sterling), Sunset Golf club (Mt. Morris) and five newcomers, Mendota, Kishwaukee Country club (DeKalb), Bureau Valley Country club (Princeton), Morrison Country club and Rochelle.

Ken Detweiler, Dixon, is association president and also defending titlist. He copped last year's inaugural tourney by ousting Jim Lamb, Oregon, on the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

Golfers planning to participate are urged to forward entries early. They may pick their own starting times. Ten entries will also be accepted as a convenience for late comers.

This year's windup banquet is slated for Plum Hollow.

Ott Resigns; Leo Ends His Dodger Days

New York, July 16—(AP)—Mel Ott resigned today as manager of the New York Giants and was succeeded by Leo Durocher, whose job as pilot of the Brooklyn Dodgers was turned over to Burt Shotton.

Shotton was pulled out of semi-retirement a year ago by Brooklyn and led the club to the pennant after Durocher was suspended by Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Durocher had been manager of the Dodgers, the Giants' arch rival, since the start of the 1939 campaign. Ott has been boss of the Polo Grounds outfit since 1942. He joined the club as a player 23 years ago, when only 16.

The announcement of Durocher's resignation and Shotton's return to the Dodgers was made by

Leo Durocher

President Branch Rickey at Cincinnati. He flew there from Brooklyn after conferring with Durocher last night.

Ott, one of the best liked members of the baseball fraternity, will take a brief vacation and then return to the Giants staff in a capacity still not determined.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, said Durocher would take over the club tonight in Pittsburgh. Shotton is expected to take over direction of the Dodgers at once in Cincinnati.

Ott, one of the best liked members of the baseball fraternity, will take a brief vacation and then return to the Giants staff in a capacity still not determined.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, said Durocher would take over the club tonight in Pittsburgh. Shotton is expected to take over direction of the Dodgers at once in Cincinnati.

The negotiations leading to the appointment of Durocher were conducted with the full consent of the Brooklyn club, and with the approval of Ford Frick, president of the national league.

"President Horace Stoneham wishes to express his deep personal regret at Ott's departure from the Polo Grounds. However, he is happy to announce that today's action does not sever an association between the Giants and Mel Ott that has already extended over a quarter of a century. Upon his return from a vacation, Mel will take over a place in the club's office organization."

Paige shuffled out of the bullpen in Philadelphia's Shibe park last night in the second game of a two-night doubleheader against the second place Athletics and gained credit for an 8-5 Cleveland victory.

The triumph enabled the Indians, who won the first game, 6-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Steve Gromek, to increase their first place margin over the Athletics to two and one-half games.

Ken Kerner put Cleveland ahead by hammering his 21st homer of the year in the eighth inning and Larry Doby clinched the decision for the cunning Paige by bunting a two-run homer in the ninth.

The twin setbacks cut the A's margin over the third place New York Yankees to one percentage point as the World Champions beat the St. Louis Browns, 4-2, in a night tilt at New York.

The up and coming Boston Red Sox took a day-night doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers, 13-3 and 3-1, at Boston. Jack Kramer coasted to his eighth straight victory in the day affair.

At Washington, Rae Scarborough hurled the Senators to a 4-1 seven hit conquest over the last place Chicago White Sox.

The Boston Braves pulled six games ahead of the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates in the National league's pennant race, beating and tying the Chicago Cubs while the Pirates split with the New York Giants.

Johnny Sain posted his 12th victory, 2 to 1, in the first game, allowing seven safeties.

The second game was called at the end of 13 innings because of darkness with the score tied 1-1. The Pirates clipped the Giants, 4-3, in the first game. Ray Poat hurled the Giants to a 10-3 triumph in the second game, scattering eight hits to gain his ninth victory.

The Brooklyn Dodgers last night moved into a fourth place tie with the Giants, beating the Reds, 5-3.

In another night tilt at St. Louis, Dutch Leonard hurled the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over Harry Brecheen and the Cardinals.
